

How can I describe God?
My words are not enough...
I can only say this:

No one can comprehend His greatness,
For it is more vast than we can imagine.

No one can conceive His glory,
For it is too bright for us to see.

No one can describe His beauty,
For it is too astounding for words.

No one can understand His love,
For He even gave up His son for us.

No one can outdo His power,
For He controls the universe.

No one can declare Him fake,
For He made us all.

No one has seen His face,
For it would surely blind us.

No one can question His wisdom,
For He can see the future.

So how can I describe God?
I think I just did.
